of the boarders in the Hongkong & Kowloon Ferry Co. Mr Price's closing remark is non-committal. How this particular institution possibly be 'always kept in such a condition as not to be a nuisance as long as it is kept in that locality, is our comprehension. But the Surgeon-General is far longer-headed than we are, is perhaps much more perspicacious and certainly has far more power. The Government of this Colony that whole community put together possibly have under existing circumstances. It must be admitted that it is difficult to find a place for such a seasonable public ornaments; but in the case of the other made to pay for the same, some further explanation would have been amiss, and would have been more courteous than the given. If the cyresser must be why not plant a circle of bamboo in it, instead of its loveliness!

In dealing with anything, many are afraid that the Acting Attorney-General will generally be found a 'Pillar of Blunders' and about the quiet Marine Certificate will always be in the consciousness of on-lookers, the refusal to move in the matter of length of voyage by steamer to Australia and the consequent provisioning vessel for a period far in excess of present requirements, does not surprise one. As it was demonstrated by question by the Chamber of Commerce that the position of the Government on this subject was absurd it may be considered necessary for the due maintenance of the dignity of the Executive to adhere to that position. Sensible as however, describe such conduct a 'straw' and other harder names.

Touching the levy on Salt Fish now appears that the Chinese are in their rights, as laid down by the Treaty of Peking in taxing our Armed men guarded the packages day and night, and as much care was taken as if the Holy Grail had been found, while precaution was soon relaxed, the packages were taken to the military school. A wooden building was erected for their reception; the machine for producing gas was put into working order, and a lucky day was sought for the first trial. The balloons were inflated, but the balloons stuck together by reason of heat, or bad oil, or accident, whereon the wooden building was condemned as unsuitable, and a suggestion made to the authorities that they should order (from the syndicate) an edifice of patronage and iron, and that the balloons should be blown up on the roof of the building. This would make them safe to inflate rather dear, but as the Chinese have got their useful toys of course the things must now be
